DON'T FORGET

Ross Haffner

The children of Israel found themselves at the doorstep of Canaan as a young nation established by God. But Moses, their leader who saved them out of the hands of Pharaoh, would not be allowed to go with them. We find the final address of Moses to God's people in the book of Deuteronomy. The overarching theme of Deuteronomy is to remember God and His way so that their relationship will remain intact.

The most famous portion of this text is known as the Shemah, which means "to hear intelligently", found in Deuteronomy 6:4-12. Moses begins with this admonition that impresses the importance of close attention to the word of the Lord. If they did not listen to the commands of God they would be sure to fail in their conquest of the land of Canaan. The same is true for us under the law of Christ. We cannot have saving faith without first hearing the word (Rom. 10:17; Heb. 11:6) But to listen intently to the words spoken of God's prophet would not be enough.

Hearing the message of God was to lead Israel to love the Lord. This is a complete love with all of their heart. A complete love is an expected response at the message of God's love because that love is so deep and complete. For Israel, God's love was physical protection. As long as they behaved as His people they would not have to worry over famine or attack from enemy forces. When God showed His love for us it was mainly for spiritual protection. Sending His Son allowed us to have salvation from sin.

Moses then commanded that the children of Israel teach these statutes to future generations so that God would never be forgotten. This teaching was to be done consistently at all times of the day. If we hope our children will be faithful to the Lord we have to bring them along (Eph. 6:4). If these young ones do not see us living and teaching out truth consistently they will get the idea that God's word does not need to be a priority in their lives.

Finally, this teaching was to take place so that God would be remembered. Moses warned, "beware lest you forget the Lord" (Deut. 6:4). If God was not heard, loved, and taught to the children of Israel they would forget Him and begin to think that by their own might they escaped Egypt and conquered Canaan. If we forget God, all will be lost.
